TAKING THE FIRST STEP

Understanding forgiveness is one thing; doing it is an entirely different matter. As philosopher C.S. Lewis said, “Everybody says forgiveness is a lovely idea until they have something to forgive.” How do you move from definition (understanding forgiveness) to application (practicing forgiveness)? Making this transition requires your personal initiative. Forgiveness begins with you even though it ought to begin with the other person. Seldom will the person who offended you come to you to ask your forgiveness, so you must take the first step. Jesus reinforced this idea in his teaching: “Therefore, if you are offering your gift at the altar and there remember that your brother has something against you, leave your gift there in front of the altar. First go and be reconciled to your brother; then come and offer your gift” (Matthew 5:23-24).

David was chosen by God. God also chooses us for His tasks and situations.

Words To Live By

- Christ did not come to do away with suffering; he did not come to explain it. He came to fill it with his presence.
- The wonderful thing about Jesus is that he not only meets us at church occasionally, but he always goes home with us.
- Let the Divine Mind flow through your own mind, and you will be happier. I have found the greatest power of prayer.
- There can be no true knowledge of ultimate things, that is to say, of God and man, of duty and destiny, that is not born in a concern and perfected in a commitment.
- Faith is the daring of the soul to go farther than it can see.
- Prayer is when you talk to God; meditation is when you listen to God.

Ask and You Shall Receive?

O Lord, send us and our dusty neighbors around the world, a good soaking rain of about 1 1/2 inches over a 15-hour period, at the rate of no more than a tenth of an inch per hour, preferably at night; and repeat once a week through April 15, with the exception of three weeks appropriate for spring planting; and thereafter, once every two weeks until the moisture deficit in the soil has been eliminated, or until the farmers would wish it would stop, whichever comes first. Amen.

A thought For Labor Day

Come work for the Lord. The work is hard, the hours are long, and the pay is low.
But the retirement benefits are out of this world.
